SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS WARTIME PROHIBITION

Long Agony Ended When Opinion is Read By Justice Brandeis.

Washington, Dec. 15.—War time prohibition was held constitutional today by the supreme court in an unanimous decision.

Thus vanished the hopes of many for a "wet" holiday time.

No decision was rendered on the cases involving the constitutionality of the Volstead law, the prohibition enforcement act, framed to carry out the intent of the prohibition amendment to the constitution.

In passing, however, Associate Justice Brandeis did hold that the prohibition amendment was binding on the states as well as the federal government.

The court entirely reversed the contention of the "wets" that war time prohibition was outside the war time powers of congress and pointed out that war time control of food and railroads still were in effect.

The decision added one of the final milestones in the long fight to make the country dry.

The court will render opinions again next Monday at which time the beer cases are expected to be decided, after which the court will recess until January 5.

The prohibition constitutional amendment will become effective January 16.

Upon the court's decision on the prohibition enforcement law, which is expected early in January will depend whether the federal government has at hand any legal means for making the amendment effective. The constitutionality of war time prohibition, however, the drys are confident, will keep the country dry until the amendment is carried into effect by law of its own.

The decision of the Supreme Court today deciding appeals from Kentucky and New York involving the constitutionality of the wartime prohibition act was read by Associate Justice Brandeis.

In deciding the question, the Supreme Court also dissolved injunctions restraining revenue officers from interfering with the removal from bond of about 60,000,000 gallons of whisky valued at approximately $75,000,000 held by the Kentucky Distilleries and Warehouse company of Louisville, Ky.

The signing of the armistice did not abrogate the war powers of Congress. Associate Justice Brandeis said in reading the decision of the court.

Federal court decrees a New York dismissing habeas corpus proceedings brought by Dryfus, Bloom and company to compel internal revenue officials to permit the withdrawal from bond of whisky for beverage purposes were affirmed by the court.

Justice Brandeis said the government did not appropriate the liquor by stopping its domestic sale, as the way was left open for exporting it.

Justice Brandeis also called attention to the continued control of the railroads and reassumption of powers by the government relative to coal and sugar under war acts to show that the government continues to exercise various war powers despite the signing of the armistice.

The constitutional prohibition amendment is binding on the federal government as well as the states and supersedes state laws, the court declared.

The judgment of the court in the Kentucky and New York cases was unanimous.

PASS THE CAVE BILL

How many know that within 100 miles of Louisville there is a tract of 32,000 acres of virgin forest covering a peculiarly picturesquely terrain?

A majority of native-born Louisvillians never have seen "the forest primeval." A majority of those who have seen virgin forest have visited the Federal reservations in the West, or reserves in North Carolina. The surrounding of Mammoth Cave, aside from what is seen between Cave City and the cave, remain unknown to nearly everyone who visits the cave, but if the tract were a Federal reserve, its scenic charms, made accessible by motor roads, the benefit of interest abounds.

After listening to the evidence and some very able speeches by the attorneys, the jury rendered a verdict of "NOT GUILTY."

there would be as much interest in the forest as in the cave.

The bill now pending in Congress should be passed. It would be unfortunate, not to Kentucky (metropol), if the property should go under the hammer and the timber he fed into saw mills. Kentucky or in this east reserve in Kentucky, few opportunities. There remain a few units to reserve forests situated near trunkline railroads and easily accessible to large cities and thickly populated rural areas. The Mammoth Cave tract presents an ideal opportunity. It is upon the Dixie Highway from Chicago to Miami, which will carry increasing northbound and southbound traffic.

The Mammoth Cave property will unless reserved be sold to settle an estate. Dr. Croghan's will left the cave and the surrounding timber land to his nephews and nieces. Of the heirs two nieces, one 81, and the other 91 years old, survive. Both of them live in Italy. Under the terms of the will the estate is to be sold at auction at the death of the last of the heirs. It always has been said that the Mammoth Cave Park should become a National Park, that it would be a shame for it to be sold and skinned over its forest. But the popular inclination and the failure of that inclination to get results might remind readers of Mark Twain of his famous assertion that the weather usually is bad, that everyone talks about it, but nobody does anything about it.

Representative Thomas of the Third Kentucky District is advocating action in Congress upon the bill to make Mammoth Cave a National Park. He should be aided by every member of the Kentucky delegation and Congress should respond promptly to an effort to preserve forever as a unit in the system of National Parks a magnificent forest reserve containing one of the admitted wonders of the world.—Courier Journal.

PRETTY GIRL LAND

CLAIMANT IS GAME

After losing her claim in a contest and re-homesteading, Novia E. Taylor yesterday made final proof in her property which is located northwest of Phoenix.

In making final proof the attractive young girl stated that during the recent rains her crops were entirely destroyed but that she intended to stand by the land she took up in October, 1916. Her confidence in the homestead was so great that when she lost her claim to William B. Enten she bought the waiver of preference rights from him for $250.

Miss Taylor, who came here from Kentucky has all the charm of an attractive southern girl, while she has the business ability of a Yankee. She sees a great future ahead of this state and expects to get more than her bit out of the home she has established in this county.—Arizona Republican.

Miss Taylor was reared and formerly lived at Centertown, Ky., and will be remembered by a host of friends.

HARTFORD GIRLS MAKING GOOD

The Sunny Slope school, at Berrtrand, Okla., in which Misses Winnie and Muriel Wilson, of Hartford, are teaching, recently gave a very interesting entertainment at the Union church in that city. Among other numbers were: Taking the Census, a comedy in one act; A Society For Doing Good, comedy in one act; The Daughter of the Desert, drama in four acts. The Misses Wilson acted the leading parts in the drama. Members of the school were highly complimented for the splendid manner in which the plays were delivered, and they have been invited to play at other towns nearby.

MOCK TRIAL AT HIGH SCHOOL

The boys of Hartford High School instead of the usual debate last week, put on a mock trial. John Allen Wilson acted as Judge; Freeman Schapnire was accused; Bianton Ellis was the accusing witness, claiming defendant stole one of his chickens; Ed Hoover and Robert Carson acted as lawyers for the defendant; Odie Harpe and Bert Crowder were the Prosecuting Attorneys. Several other students acted as witnesses, jurymen etc.

After listening to the evidence and some very able speeches by the attorneys, the jury rendered a verdict of "NOT GUILTY."

USE OF LOUISVILLE POLICE BRINGS STRONG PROTEST

ACTED AT THE REQUEST CAPITAL OFFICERS SAY CHIEF PETTY.

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 15.—Indignation meetings were held in several offices in the city this morning over the use of Louisville police at the Capitol during the annual hall last night. Major Walker Crossfield, Assistant and Acting Adjutant General, was especially bitter. He said:

"I tried to enter my own office last night and was stopped by a Republican policeman from Louisville, in uniform, who said he had orders not to let anyone in. I told him who I was, but he said that made no difference. I then inquired and ascertained that I still was Acting Adjutant General. Later a friend of mine from Lawrenceburg asked me if he and his wife could leave their wraps in my office. I told him I was willing, but would first have to get permission from a Louisville policeman. Rather than humiliate me, he went to the public cloakroom."

Attorney General Morris was another who has not recovered from his irritation. He was stopped from entering the west door of the Capitol with his wife.

General Morris said:

"I was told by a Louisville policeman at the door that it was a private entrance and my name was not on his list, although I am a member of the Capitol Commission, which has charge of the Capitol building. I was indignant, but the door was slammed in my face and locked. The fact that imported policemen, not even deputized in this county and acting in uniform as police officers in the Capitol building without consulting the Commission did not lessen my feelings." ## CHICAGO CHOSEN FOR CONVENTION

JUNE 8 IS DATE SET FOR NATIONAL GATHERINGS OF REPUBLICANS

Washington, Dec. 12.—The Republican National Committee today selected Chicago and Tuesday, June 8, as the place and time for the National Convention at which the party's 1920 candidate for President will be nominated.

The committee also authorized creation of two new departments of party organization to deal respectively with policies and general party welfare.

The former, composed of selected members of the committee and other men and women representing labor, capital, the farmers and others, will go to work at once sorting out schedules to be dealt with in the 1920 platform.

The second committee comprises an equal number of national committeemen and outside party leaders and will function as an Advisory Council in conduct of the campaign.

CONTRIBUTIONS LIMITED

The plan of Will H. Hays, National chairman, for limitation of individual campaign contributions to $1,000 formally was approved and the committee announced some changes in apportionment of delegates to the National Convention. These changes were not of a sweeping nature, however, and affected only seven States.

Of the several hundred prominent Republicans who attended the meeting, a large number remained for the session to be held tomorrow by State chairmen.

Only questions of organization are expected to come formally before this meeting, but partisans of various Republicans mentioned for the presidency will continue the active efforts which have kept the Capital alive with gossip and conferences since Sunday.

Private Stofer was the first Ohio county boy wounded in the World War. He received his wound, March 18, 1918, while serving on the Alsace-Lorraine sector with the 1st Div. As he was with the Regulars previous to our entrance into the conflict, he is required to complete his enlistment period. This will be completed with 10 months more service, and like most others he thinks that will be enough of army life.

The above mentioned murder was committed August 31 of this year at Freeman Spur, Ill., five miles north of Herrin. Harry Jackson was 22 years of age and a former resident of Rockport, Ky. He went to Illinois in 1916. William Collier is also an Ohio county boy and had been a resident of Illinois but two years.

THE NIGHT BEFORE CHRISTMAS FOCH CAN'T ORDER GERMAN INVASION BY OUR SOLDIERS

(As it may be written if there is no material improvement in the coal situation.)

'Twas the night before Christmas, and all through the house

Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse,
For the mice were all frozen, the cats were all dead,
And icicles hung from the sheets of the bed;
There was frost on the carpet and prints of our toes

Could be seen where we danced as we put on our clothes

To jump into the bed—yes, "put on," for no wight could afford to take anything off that chill night.

In overcoat, muffler and ear muffs arrayed

We pried the sheets open with chisel and spade,

And we shivered and shook till our teeth played a tune,
And we looked through the window and saw the wan moon crack sheer into splinters way up in the sky,

And fall like a shower of glass from on high;

And we tried to cry "Oh!" but the words on our lips

Just froze is a sort of dumb vocal eclipse,—

Just turned, as it were, into white, voiceless snow

Which finally thawed with a tremulous "Oh!"—Louisville Times.

R. P. MORROW IS SWORN IN AS GOVERNOR

Thousands Applaud Renewal of His Pledges Made In Campaign

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 13.—Edwin P. Morrow came Governor of Kentucky at 1:54 December 9.

Thriston Ballard, Lieutenant Governor, took the oath of office in the open under lowering skies, while thousands of persons looked on.

The oath was administered by Judge John D. Carroll, Chief Justice of the Kentucky Court of Appeals, following a brief address by Mr. Morrow, in which he renewed his pre-election pledges.

The address of Mr. Morrow followed one by ex-Gov. James D. Black reviewing legislation enacted during the last four years of Democratic regime and denying responsibility for any errors that may have been made.

Crowd Grows Restive

While Governor Black was speaking the crowd grew restive, and toward the close he was interrupted by persons calling on him to sit down and let Governor-elect Morrow "have the floor."

"I will do so presently," he said to one of the more insistent, but continued to the end without eliminating a word that appeared in his typewritten manuscript.

In the course of his address, devoted largely to explanations as to why he failed to "clean house" during his brief reign as the State's Chief Executive, Governor Black said his chief regret over his defeat was that he would not be able to put into effect the programme he had mapped out for upbuilding Kentucky's educational facilities, and elimination of her penal and charitable institutions from politics.

Morrow Proud and Humble

Mr. Morrow began his address with the statement that he was "at once the proudest and humblest of men," explaining that he was humble in his consciousness of the great responsibility resting on him. He said that the unprecedented vote given him and the rest of the Republican ticket thundered forth "the people's ballot of rebuke to unfaithful servants and inefficient execution of public trust. He pledged himself to assist in development of the State's natural resources, and to see to the physical, mental and moral welfare of the people of Kentucky.

Dr. John G. South, relative of Mr. Morrow, introduced Judge O'Rear, explaining that the latter had been selected as master of ceremonies. Judge O'Rear, in introducing Governor Black, referred to him as a Governor than whom none ever had been held in higher esteem from the standpoint of integrity and patriotism. He also termed him a "game loser."

Whole State Represented

Several hundred persons occupied the stand on which the inauguration ceremony was held. It had been erected at the foot of the last flight of stone steps leading to the front entrance of the Capitol. Below and on three sides of it was a compact mass of spectators representing practically every nook and corner of Kentucky. They had come by train, automobile and horse-drawn vehicles, and some had ridden horseback into Frankfort.

How He Ended Kidney Trouble

"I had a severe attack of kidney trouble and for three weeks could not get out of doors and scarcely out of bed" writes C. E. Brewer, of Louisville. "A doctor could not find out what was the matter. I took Foley Kidney Pills. Was relieved after just few doses and continued their use until completely cured. I consider Foley Kidney Pills the best kidney remedy in the world. No recurrence of my trouble. Sold everywhere."

CHICAGO NOW LEADING IN NEGRO POPULATION

According to these figures Chicago has 125,000 negroes, an increase of 75,000 since 1915. New York is still leading by a few thousand. Of the firms employing negro women, Sears-Roebuck & Co., a mail order concern, was said to have the largest number—1,400.

A survey made by the Bureau of Markets shows that dealers, manufacturers and the Government held on September 30, a total of 729,373,000 pounds, grease equivalent. #### RELATES LIGHT IN GERMANY AT TREATY'S DEFEAT

Alfred J. Gardiner Tells Louisville Audience How Militarists Not Penitent

Louisville.—Joy was unconfined in Germany when the American Senate rejected the peace treaty and the League of Nations covenant, declared Alfred G. Gardiner, editor of the London Daily News, in an address before a representative audience at the First Christian Church, where he appeared under the auspices of the Louisville Civic Committee.

The Militarist party in Germany, the speaker emphasized, is not penitent in defeat, but is working without cessation to re-establish the regime in the Fatherland and the result of their efforts depends entirely upon the action of the Allies, whether they cling to the League plan or desert it.

Judge Robert W. Bingham introduced the speaker, presenting him as a man of broad understanding of America's problems and of the problems of the world and characterizing him as one of the most brilliant editors of England.

"The League of Nations is the hope of the world," was a declaration of the speaker and his audience gave him enthusiastic applause. He pointed out, as he did in an interview yesterday to The Times, that establishment or rejection of the League idea determines whether there will be a new balance of power and return to construction of competitive armaments.

The speaker expressed pleasure that his local audience appreciated the larger questions involved in the League.

Mr. Gardiner referred to the peaceful relations between the United States and Great Britain and made a plea for a lasting alliance between the two great English-speaking Powers. He held out that the League of Nations plan was the embodiment of the spirit of Americanism. America, he said, must supply Europe with confidence in the future. England already has obtained much inspiration from America, he said. He expressed the hope there never would be a competitive programme of naval building between the United States and England.

The speaker said that dissatisfaction with the statesmen is responsible for much of the unrest among labor.

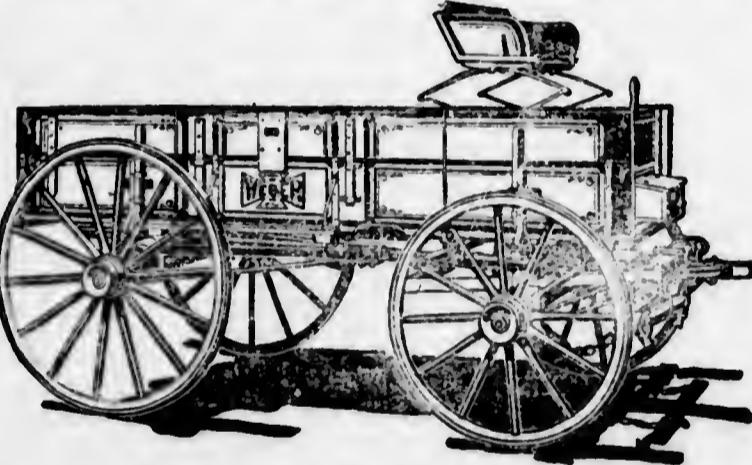

He expressed candidly the belief that London never again would overtake New York's lead as the world's greatest financial center.

THE NORTHERN STATES HAVE ADOPTED THE 56" AUTO-TRACK WAGON

Why Should You Own a

Standardized Weber Wagon?

Sold in the Southland since 1845

Because:

It will last longer than the old-style 60-inch wagon;
It will run more smoothly than the old-style wide-track wagon;
It will help maintain the uniform 56-inch ruts made by the automobile;
It will save automobile tires, and reduce repair bills on both wagon and auto;
It allows the wheels to follow road conditions without any twisting strains;
It has the best constructed front gear ever put on a wagon;
It will identify you as a progressive farmer;
The 60-inch wagon has been out of date since all motor vehicles were made only in 56-inch track;

And—most important of all—you get more real value for your money when you buy a fifth-wheel, swivel-reach-coupling standardized, auto-track Weber wagon than in the purchase of any other wagon on the market.

The next time you happen to be in town drop in and let's have a little wagon argument.

this antique method of lighting better than members of the A. E. F.
Candles furnished the light by which many, many thousands of missives to mothers, wives and sweethearts, were written.

Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart has been appointed chairman of the National Illiteracy Commission, with headquarters in New York City. Mrs.
Stewart began her career as a country school teacher in the hills of Roman county, and has attained this national prominence through her constant endeavor to better rural conditions.

When she learned of the order for her deportation to Soviet Russia, because of her anarchistic deeds, Emma Goldman said this only showed how hysterical government officials are. If Emma's statement be true, then God grant that their hysteria may continue until every believer in anarchy and Bolshevism is sent either upon this voyage or that more lengthy one where the voyager embarks from the electric chair.

The cost of papers upon which newspapers are printed continues to soar upward and in many sections is unobtainable. Because of this, newspapers may within the next few months be compelled to make another raise in subscription rates. Every publisher hesitates before making such a raise, but what is to be done when prices for supplies keep on going skyward.
The Herald will continue at the present rate just as long as the next one, but many of the next ones have raised their rates already.

LETTER TO SANTA CLAUS

Beaver Dam, Ky., Dec. 16.
Dear Santa: As Xmas will soon be here, and knowing you have so many little folks to remember, I thought I would write and tell you what I want. I want a pair of brown shoes like papa's, some blocks, a knife,
a French harp and fruits and candy of all kinds. Don't forget my sister. She wants a doll and anything else you care to bring her. Don't forget Bradley Black. He lives with papa. Bring him something nice. Don't forget us as we are all good children and I am studying hard so I can go to school.

Yours truly,
Caldwell Harnes.

Miss Elizabeth Davidson, who is attending the University of Kentucky at Lexington, will arrive here next Sunday to spend the Xmas holdays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs.
Ed Davidson.

MEXICO'S WEALTH OF SILVER

Around Groves of Conquerors and Brought Only Bondage and Misery
to the People.

Mexico has produced a steady stream of silver ever since its conquest by Cortes in 1519. But while the supply seems inexhaustible, it brought more misery than happiness to the nation, in the opinion of the Salt Lake Tribune, because it afforded the incentive to bring conquerors to its shores to en-slave the people.

The Spaniards robbed and enslaved
the Aztecs to control the silver supply.
They blotted out a semi-barbarous civilization that had built great irrigation systems, massive temples and beautiful cities, and the once proud and happy people were placed under the yoke for four centuries.

An almost uncanny gift in ferreting out the big silver deposits was possessed by the Spanish governors. The cost of gunpowder was so high, though, that only the richest finds were worked. Only ore that produced over 100 ounces of silver to the ton was mined. It is said that the owner of the Quinte mine, in the Alamos district, a Señor Alamada, on the marriage of his daughter, lined the bridal chamber of the palace with bars of silver and paved the way to the church with the metal.

Large profits are made from demolishing some of the old houses in the Chihuahua district, and reducing the material in them for silver. The natives who built them used to use the run of mine slag, in the absence of cheaper building material, and much valuable ore went into the buildings.

KEEP KNOCKED-OUT TEETH

Dentist Can Replace Them in Mouth
So That They Will Soon Give Good Service.

When one's front teeth are knocked out there is no need to leave them on the floor, for they can be reinserted very well by a good dentist. Dr. H. M.
Smyre tells in the Lancet (London) of two cases in which the teeth were completely dislocated from their sockets.

In one case the teeth were placed in salt water while the dentist carefully washed out the sockets. Then they were reinserted, a stitch or two placed in the gums and the jaws were bandaged shut so that the teeth bit on a pad of gauze. In the other case the teeth still hung to the gums, so the sockets were cleaned out without touching the teeth.

In both cases the teeth became solidly fixed and the patients could use them for normal biting a few months after the accident.

Dr. C. De Witt Henry of New York replaced not long ago the teeth of a truck driver that had been knocked out in a collision. The man had pulled his teeth from the gutter and run up to the dentist's office carrying them in his hand.

World's Largest Vaults.
In the underground vaults of the new United States assay office, the cornerstone of which was laid recently in New York, can be stored more than $20,000,000 in gold. They are said to be the largest and finest in the world, according to Popular Mechanics magazine. Five of the eight stories of the building will be located beneath the surface of the earth. Sealed in the cornerstone of the structure are copies of several newspapers; a medallion on which there is a portrait of the president, and a bag containing a set of United States coins ranging in value from one cent to $20, besides other articles of interest and value. The building will cost over $800,000.

Reduced His Concile.

He was taken up with a mistaken consciousness of his own importance, and when he was making his speech in the Middlecombe mock parliament he noted that one of the local newspaper men appeared to be sketching him.
When the house adjourned he buttoned
the artist.

"I believe—aw—you were—aw—sketching me; isn't that so?" he inquired.

"That is so," replied the artist.
"Well—aw—would you tell me what newspaper you—aw—represent?"

"I represent no newspaper," answered the artist. "I design comic postcards."—London Tit-Bits.

Tree Held Loot 39 Years.

A gilt clock and other articles were stolen thirty-nine years ago from a mansions near Wokingham, Eng., where the marquis and marchioness of Downshire resided then. Recently a man saw a spike protruding from the side of a stump of a tree that had been felled. Thinking this unusual, he looked into the stump and found the long-lost clock, rusty but intact, and some photograph frames in filigree work—the thief's hoard. A local watchmaker identified the clock and is now cleaning and restoring it.

Second Hand.
"What a lovely Dutch landscape!"
exclaimed the admiring visitor.
"You've been to Holland, of course?"
"Why, no," answered the artist, modestly.

"Then how were you ever able to paint such a realistic picture?"

"To tell the truth, I copied it off a beer mug."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Playing No Favorites.
The Caller—Is Miss Peachblow in?
The Maid—No, sir; she's just gone out. But she left word if any gentleman should call for me to say she wanted him especially to call again.

Every little while there starts going the rounds of the exchanges a bit of verse, an editorial, a humorous paragraph, the source of which no one seems to know. "The Old Home Paper" is one of these:
It's printed old-fashioned and homely,

bearing name of a small country
town:

With an unfeigned amber at its wrapper queer.

The postman, in scorn, throws it down.

But I scan every line that it offers.
Each item brings something to view,

Through the vista of years, through youth's pleasure and fears,

It serves their keen touch to renew.

The death of the girl I once courted.

The growth of a firm I once peered.

The rise of a friend I love to commend,

The fall of a man I revered.

As I read I drift dreamily backward
To the days to live was a joy,

I think and I pore, till the city's dull roar

grows faint and again I'm a boy.

Rare perfume of green country byways,

Fair music of flowers and bees,

And the quaint little town with the streets leading down

To the creek and low-bending trees.

Around me the forms of my comrades,

About us earth's glories unfurled,

Each heart undefiled, with the faith of a child,

Looking forth to a place in the world.

And the paper tells how all have prospered,

I follow their lives as they flow,

Applauded each grain and regretting each pain

For the sake of the days long ago.

Above all the huge city dallies

With ponderous utterance wise.

This scant page hath power to spread for an hour,

A fairyland sweet to my eyes!

STAMP THEM OUT

The Sword of Damocles has fallen. For many years it has been hanging on a threadlike cord above our innocent the unsuspecting heads and we have not been aware of it. Recently it began to swing to and fro and at last it fell. What does the above mean, you say. It means simply this: The American people were oblivious to the danger they were incurring in permitting unlearned and vicious aliens to enter our gates until it was too late and now we are reaping the rewards.

Since the American nation was founded, the gates of the east and the west have been thrown open. Through them has surged a tide of humanity, the oppressed and down-trodden of nations. To all we have given the glad hand of welcome, to all we have given of our store, America does not regret her generosity. Rather she is proud she could take to her breast the homeless and the forsaken and smooth away their tears as a mother does a child. The children of the grateful ones live here today, and are patriotic citizens of our great republic.

But about the time of the French revolution, new forces made their appearance on the horizon of European politics. These were anarchy and rebellion against all organized government, a natural reaction after the long years of tyrannical oppression which cursed Europe for so many centuries. These have fomented the troubles which have haunted the nations ever since. The anarchist, in his true sense, is a disgruntled enemy of all law and order, who is devoid of sentiment and shorn of all powers of reason. He is a destructionist, an enemy to society, who bears in his heart no love and ridicules all the higher ideals of the race. He is a viper, fit only to be hated, dreaded, and if possible destroyed. Yet in his cowardly plotting he is yellow to the core. No one will whine and beg mercy like one of these unwholesome scoundrels when he is caught. The bitterness of heart which he bears to his fellow men, the materialistic and brute instinct that animates him, and his natural animosity against everything uplifting, puts him in a category that is hard to define. He is a loathsome scavenger among men, whose soul feeds only on the lusts and foul things and whose twisted mind thinks only the darkest thoughts. Let him rule, and life on earth will be a misery, home will vanish and the world become a hell.

This is the monster who stands before us with blood-dripping hands, cruel, vengeful eyes, and heart so seared that he cannot listen to reason or be touched by tenderness. We permitted him to come and feed from our storehouses, reap our harvests, draw our wages, and now he strikes us in the back. What are we going to do with him?

Let the politicians stop their petty wrangling and enact a law so stringent in its very analysis, that it will mean the death-knell of anarchy for all time. He feeds on our tables, claims the protection of our laws, and yet would destroy our very foundations. Those who feared the German vote and allowed many Americans to be sacrificed; those who feared the pro-Irish vote and allowed confessed agitators to perade the country in search of funds for a revolution, and those who now fear the vote of the "polaritair" and allow the anarchist to undermine our institutions, are going to wake up and find themselves buried beneath an avalanche of righteous indignation.

The people want this class out of the way, and if the present representatives cannot enact laws that will put them out, the people will send other representatives. The menace cannot longer be tolerated. Some morning is going to see a new law in operation, and about ten thousand of these vermin before a firing squad.—Polk County (Fla.) Record.

The above editorial was written by Walter Green, former editor of The Herald, and is proving very popular in the south. It is a strong plea for one hundred percent Americanism.

$50,000,000 BOND ISSUE FOR STATE ROADS IS BOUGHT

Kentucky Highway Head's Plan May Get Backing of New Administration

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 13.—A $60,000,000 road bond issue probably will be the solution of the road problem offered by the incoming Administration to the people of Kentucky.

Republican leaders appreciate the necessity for a forward step, they say, but they are hard set against an increase in the tax rate for this purpose. The plan also contemplates an automobile license tax sufficient to pay the interest on the bonds and create a sinking fund for their retirement.

It is proposed for the General Assembly to designate a system of State highways to be built with the bond issue. This system would connect every county and be built and maintained with State funds. Counties may build to this system, instead of, as at present, trying disconnectedly to link up a multitude of unrelated little local roads into a rambling State highway system.

Tax On Autolists

The license tax probably will embody proposal of Joe S. Boggs, Commissioner of Public Roads—75 cents the horsepower in lieu of all other taxes. That is estimated to raise $2,000,000 annually, $400,000 of which would pay the interest and $1,600,000 annually to go into the sinking fund. A twenty-five-horsepower machine under that arrangement would pay $18 instead of $6; but would escape ad valorem taxes for city, county and State purposes.

Automobilists and truck owners would receive further compensations. With a first-class system of State highways to travel over, they would be saved in repairs and tires more than the license tax, and possibly a year or more would be added to the life of a car, a saving that would pay many years' licenses.

Adoption of a system of State highways would enable the road department to cut down the mileage a third. The system, it is estimated would embrace about 2,500 miles.

A special investigation was ordered by Secretary of War Baker. More than 100 witnesses were brought here from France.

dition, by apportioning their money among districts from which their members are elected. They do a little this year here and a little there next year having an eye to the individual voter and not to the broad general scheme of the inter-county seat system. The inter-county seat roads don't link up together in a through route, leading anywhere.

On the other hand those counties located on main traveled thoroughfares, many of them the old-time tollgate pikes, have a problem all their own. The larger and richer ones have these roads, so they can devote more of the annual levy to improvement of by-roads. But those which cannot have find the constant repairing and oiling use up their funds at the expense of the lateral roads; or else while they are trying to make the laterals passable the main thoroughfares disintegrate into a dangerous and disgraceful condition.

COURT MARTIAL

Sensations That Will Eclipse Those at "Hard Boiled" Smith's Trial Expected

New York, Dec. 13.—Another court martial involving charges of brutal treatment accorded to members of the American expeditionary forces at which the evidence is expected to eclipse even the sensations developed at the trial of Lieut. "Hard Boiled" Smith, will begin tomorrow at Governors Island. The defendant is Captain Karl W. Detzer, former newspaper man of Fort Wayne, Ind., who had charge of the LeMans military police headquarters. It is charged that by various extortions from prisoners in order that he might win favor with his superiors by the number of convictions he obtained.

At the close of Detzer's trial it is planned to place on trial on similar charges his first sergeant, U. S. Madden, of Pittsburgh, a nephew of John Madden, a Kentucky horseman. Detzer was with the Eighty-fourth division, which trained at Camp Taylor.

A special investigation was ordered by Secretary of War Baker. More than 100 witnesses were brought here from France.

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

The Ford Sedan, with electric self-starting and lighting system and demountable rims with 3½-inch tires front and rear, for every day in the year has no equal as a family car. Just as popular on the farm as it is in the city. In fact, it fits the family demands in every vocation of life. Large, roomy seats, finely upholstered, plate glass windows make it an open car in pleasant weather, while in rainy and inclement weather it becomes a closed car, dust-proof and rain-proof. It is not only comfortable, but really cozy, and above all, economical in operation and maintenance, and has all the Ford merits of strength and durability.

THOROUGHBREDS PROVE STRONGER

GREAT WAR TAUGHT IMPORT-ANCE OF BREEDING OF HORSES.

RACING ENCOURAGED ABROAD

Nations Who Bore Brunt of Conflict Maintained the Sport as Much as Possible as Matter of Sound Policy in Its Relation to National Defense.

At no time in the course of the last five years, not even while the great war was at its height, did the Central Empires stop the racing of thoroughbred horses. The great tracks at Hamburg, Buda Pest, Vienna and Berlin were the scenes of brilliant gatherings, even when the Grand Duke Nicholas was threatening East Prussia with invasion and Brusilof was on the edge of the plains of Hungary with his wild Cossack riders. At no time during the course of the great war were American and English trainers and jockeys, who had been caught by the declaration of war in Germany and Austria-Hungary and were unable to obtain passports, interned. They were permitted by governments their governments were seeking to destroy to pursue their accustomed callings unmolested and unrestrained.

To a certain extent racing was curtailed in Great Britain during the first two years of the great war. The use of the famous Epsom Downs course as a resting place for convalescing soldiers necessitated the running of the famous British Derby at Newmarket in 1914, 1915, 1916, 1917 and 1918. The preoccupation of the sportsmen of Great Britain in the business of war caused them, to a certain extent, to neglect the thoroughbred sales of 1915, 1916 and 1917, and Americans were enabled to slip in and buy up a lot of first-class stallions and mares with which to enrich the American thoroughbred industry.

France Alone Stops Racing.
Of the great nations participating in the great war, France alone felt the necessity of stopping horse racing. Threatened with utter destruction in a flood of Teutonic barbarism, France had to send to the fighting lines on the Marne, the Somme, the Aisne about Verdun, in the Vosges, every male Frenchman capable of bearing arms. Back of the fighting lines she had to mobilize the elderly men with the women and children for the imperative work of making munitions. Upon France alone fell the burden of resisting the German tide for upward of two years. Throughout the course of the war speed tests were held at the great French tracks, but not as public spectacles. But there was no letting down of the bars as regards the exportation from France of thoroughbred blood any time during the war. As a special consideration citizens of the United States, a country from which the French, from the very beginning of the war, were drawing enormous quantities of military material, who had thoroughbred studs in France, such men as John Sanford, of Amsterdam, Major August Belmont, Joseph E. Widener and Thomas P. Thorne, were permitted, when transportation was available, to ship to the United States a limited number of thoroughbred yearlings. No matured thoroughbred stallions or mares were allowed to leave the country, whether their owners were Frenchmen or foreigners.

With the signing of the armistice France and England resumed racing with characteristic enthusiasm. The attendance at the race tracks about Paris has been greater this season than in any for the period of half a dozen years preceding the outbreak of the great war. The crowds that witnessed the running of the Derby, the Oaks, the Ascot Gold Cup, the Leger, etc., in Great Britain, were greater by the thousands than the greatest of the numerous race track gatherings.

Sport Encouraged in Europe.
In France and Great Britain the patronage of horse racing, by the public, has the highest government encouragement now as the support of racing had in Germany and Austria-Hungary even through the dark months when human beings were finding it difficult to obtain nourishing food. France and England recognize today as Germany and Austria-Hungary have for many days the indispensability of thoroughbred blood to national defense and necessity of thoroughbred horse racing for the maintenance at its highest efficiency of thoroughbred blood.

For upward of seventy years previous to the beginning of the great war the military governments of continental Europe had been maintaining thoroughbred studs for the production of military horses, an earlier century of experimentation having demonstrated to the satisfaction of experts that it was the horse that boasted of the greatest proportion of thoroughbred blood that showed the highest efficiency in military service, whether as a trooper's mount, an artillery horse or a part of the transport service. The great war had not progressed two years before British and French specialists discovered that the life of the pure blood, gathered under the genetling conditions of war, independently of conditions, was twenty-five days, while that of the three-quarter bred was 20 to 22, of the half bred 17, of the trotter 14 and of the lesser breeds of horses of no particular breed 5 to 7.

English Learn Their Lesson.

Previous to the war of the nations the British government had left the production of horses for the army to private enterprise. The British had merely muddled along, as is their habit in most things. The difficulty the war office experienced in equipping with suitable horses the cavalry, transport and artillery services of the tremendous armies that were being assembled in France in 1916 and 1917, under Haig, convinced the rulers of the British Empire that the old haphazard scheme would not answer in future. The British Parliament was therefore constrained to accept the 1917 Major Hall Walker's generous offer of his entire thoroughbred stud as the nucleus of a great Imperial Military Horse Breeding establishment and to employ Lord Lansdale to manage and race the produce of that establishment on the tracks of Great Britain for purposes of elimination as the Imperial German government had employed various scions of Habsburg royalty to race the produce of the national studs of Gladitz and Trekkennan for thirty-five or forty years before the outbreak of the great war.

The munificence of Major Walker's gift to his country will be understood when it is realized that his stud had been taxed on a valuation of upward of $3,000,000. Now that the war is over Parliament is beginning to appropriate vast sums annually for the maintenance of this Imperial horse breeding establishment after the manner such establishments had been maintained in France, Germany, Austria-Hungary and Italy for half a century before the German invasion of Belgium. To promote the quick production of quantities of horses of thoroughbred, three-quarterbred and half-bred types, this establishment is preparing to give direct support to the Canadian National Bureau of Breeding, which was established some seven or eight years prior to 1914, and which supplied the Canadian and British forces with thousands of splendid half-breds, and to create subsidiary branches in Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and India. —Advt.

LOOK FOR ANOTHER POMPEII

Archaeologists Expect to Unearth Treasures of Art Hidden for Some Twenty Centuries.

During the war archeological excavations were continued at the Italian colony of Syracusa on the north African coast, and now comes the news that what has been found already promises the uncovering of another ancient city as important as Pompeii. Once upon a time the spot was a Greek colony, with the civilization of Greece transplanted to the soil of Africa. The work has been carried on during the war under the supervision of Prof. Lucio Mariani, director of the archeological service of the ministry of the colonies, and the prediction is now made that the newly discovered city will eventually prove actually richer than Pompeii. In its evidence of a past civilization. Here have been found already statues of the Graces, a Hermes, an Eros, an Alexander the Great and most impressive of all, the Aphrodite of Cyrene, which is said by certain connoisseurs to be a fair rival in beauty to the Venus of Milo and the Venus of Cleopatra. The discoveries have extended over a good many years. It may be added, however, as an illustration of the modified joys of archeology and the introduction of a new myste into the history of art, that the Aphrodite of Cyrene lacks both head and arms. The world may wonder what she looked like as well as what she was supposed to be doing.

PAYS TO STAY IN SCHOOL

Fact Shown in Dollars and Cents by Figures Compiled by Bureau of Education.

The value of staying at school is stated in dollars and cents in figures recently compiled by the Bureau of Education and distributed to boys and girls throughout the country by the children's Bureau.

From a study of a large number of actual cases it has been found that twenty-five years of age the boy who remained in school until he was eighteen had received $2,000 more salary than the boy who left school at fourteen, and that the better-educated youth was then receiving more than $900 a year more pay.

"This is equivalent to an investment of $18,000 at 5 per cent," the statement said. "Can a boy increase his capital as fast in any other way?"

"From this time on the salary of the better-educated boy will rise still more rapidly, while the earnings of the boy who left school at fourteen will increase but little."

The Green Sawyer.

Gen. Marlborough Churchill was talking in Washington about the work of the Intelligence department, of which he is the head.

"It is delicate work," Gen. Marlborough Churchill said, "work that requires experience. The inexperienced intelligence officer—and we had a lot of him during the war—is apt to be about as useful as the young college man in the lumber camp."

"This college man was set to work on a cross-saw with an old-stager. He sawed pretty well for an hour or so, and then his strength gave out. Still he kept on, or tried to keep on, but all of a sudden the old-stager stopped.

"Son," he said, "I don't mind yer ridin' on the saw, but if it's jest the same to you, I'll ast ye to keep your feet off the ground."

Unfounded Report.

The following advertisement appeared in the Birmingham press in April, 1860: Thirty guineas reward. Whereas a malicious and unfounded report having been industrially propagated (tending to injure the characters of James, John and Thomas Collings), stating that each had at times appeared in disguised habit (representing the devil) with an intent to extort money from the fearful, whoever can discover the author of this report shall receive the above named by applying to James Collings, Cottage Lane, near the sand pits, Birmingham, April 14, 1860.

Marvelous Memories.

It is claimed for Mr. Timmins, the Shakespearean scholar who has just died, that at the age of twenty-one he recited the whole of "Hamlet" from memory. Among the professional reciters such a feat would not be regarded as very remarkable.

The late Samuel Brandom knew by heart practically the whole of Shakespeare, and Shakespeare was only one of his many favorites.

In his "Nights With the Poets and Humorists" Brandom drew from all sources, read nothing and was never known to forget a line.—London Chronicle.

An Endless Chain.

"We're very unsettled in our flat," said the worried-looking man at the club.

"What's the trouble?" asked his friend.

"Well, our children keep the next-door neighbors awake, so they pass the time by playing the piano; that makes the pet dog next door to them bark, and that keeps the children next door awake, and there's so much noise through the building that there's no chance at all of our children going to sleep."

Usefulness Gone.

"I hear there are many poisonous snakes in your part of the country."

"Not now. What's the use of them when every place is dry?"

WOULD BE FRIEND IN NEED

Grateful Colored Man Promised to Go If Services Should Be Needed.

"The race riots in Chicago remind me of the same sort of excitement that ran around Atlanta when I was living there as a young man," said George McDaniel of Metro, Cal., recently.

"My brother and I were both messengers—owners of smooth and virgin sheepskins. We shared the same office and lunched at the same counter. In the midst of wild confusion, one day, a wounded negro rushed into our office and begged for protection. This was freely granted; for we had no race prejudices, in spite of our Southern upbringing. We also poured salve on the negro's bruises."

"Yo' shuh been good to me," said the grateful darkey, turning to my brother—who, by the way, is now practicing in Los Angeles—"an' I'll remember it, doc. Say, if yo' ever kills anybody mah friends and I'll get you out if we have to bust the jail to do it!"—Los Angeles Times.

Robespierre's Curious Watch.

The number of watches of various kinds and size and value which are now seen in the windows of the jewelers and watchmakers of Paris reminds a correspondent of "L'Éclaire" of the watch which once was the property of Robespierre, and which the correspondent saw at an exhibition of curios. It surely should have long ago found its place in the Carnavalet. The watch was in the shape of a pear and of the size of one, and was made of silver. It opened in the center, the face being in the lower section, while the top section was ornamented with pear leaves wrought in silver. A watch the size of a pear, and a good deal heavier, is plainly indicative of somewhat bizarre tastes on the part of the "Friend of the People." That is, at any rate, how it strikes "L'Éclaire's" correspondent.—Christian Science Monitor.

Kitchener's Dog.

Lord Kitchener's favorite dog, which he left in the hands of Admiral Grant before embarking on the cruiser Hampshire, is believed to have become a good Australian. Admiral Grant, who has been appointed first naval member of the Australian naval board, brought Kitchener's pet to the Commonwealth on board the battle cruiser Australia. Ordinarily the Commonwealth does not encourage the landing of cats and dogs from overseas, but Australia holds Kitchener in such dear memory that one may safely conjecture that exception will be made in this instance.

Winter Weather and Heavy Foods

Comparatively few persons exercise as much outdoors in winter as in summer, and at the same time almost everybody eats more heartily in cold weather. The extra work put upon digestive organs leads to indigestion, biliousness, headache, bad breath, coated tongue, bloating, gas, constipation. Foley Cathartie Tablets thoroughly cleanse the bowels, sweeten the stomach and benefit the liver. They cause no griping or nausea and are liked by over stout feeling they begin. Sold everywhere, feeling they begin. Sold everywhere.
